Dear Mr. Nakashuk:

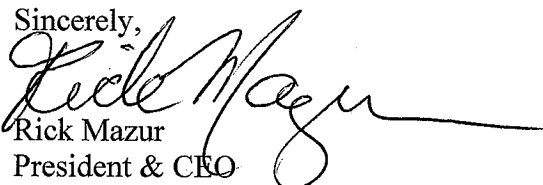

RE: 2021 Draft Nunavut Land Use Plan (NLUP)

Please accept these comments to the 2021 Draft Nunavut Land Use Plan. Forum Energy Metals Corp. explored for uranium in the Territory from 2006 to 2012 as the predecessor company Forum Uranium Corp. We only recently became active again in Nunavut with our staking activity of mineral claims in the Kivalliq Region for exploration of uranium nearby Orano Canada's proposed Kiggavik development project. Forum is in the process of filing exploration permits with the regulators, engaging with community and is planning to mobilize fuel and equipment to the Hamlet of Baker Lake this year in preparation for a drill program in the summer of 2023.

We have reviewed the NLUP and have the following comments:

- Forum believes that all existing mineral rights be listed in Appendix A and would like its mineral claims listed in Appendix A of the NLUP.
- More consultation must be conducted with mineral sector proponents and communities before meaningful hearings can be held to review this current NLUP.
- Limited Use Areas need more clarification, stakeholder input and careful consideration as they do not conform with the Nunavut Land Claims Agreement, Inuit Owned surface and subsurface mineral development and the interests of communities, Nunavut Tunngavik Inc. and the Regional Inuit Associations.
- As an exploration company recently returning to Nunavut for mineral exploration in the Territory, the NLUP is complex and does not give us the certainty required to feel comfortable that development can proceed as in other jurisdictions where we work.
- The NLUP in its current form does not balance economic, cultural and conservation interests.

Sincerely,

Rick Mazur
